

Yo-Yo Ma Plays Music to Buffalo Herd in Glacier National Park, Montana

Internationally renowned cellist Yo-Yo Ma ... took his cello to a meadow on the Blackfeet Nation to play for bison in celebration of the tribe's work to reestablish a free roaming herd. Yo-Yo Ma plays on top of a hill in the middle of the Blackfeet Nation's buffalo pasture. The vast golden prairie and the mountains of Glacier National Park loom in the distance. Some locals listen, but he's here to play for the bison grazing at the bottom of the hill.

As Ma unloaded from a pickup truck, he said he's traveled the country to bring his music to places like this as part of his "Our Common Nature" project. Ma added:

“More and more every music I play is trying to figure out what is human nature, what is nature and how the two combine.”

To read more about this project and listen to the music go to the Montana Public Radio site:
<https://www.mtpr.org/montana-news/2024-08-05/yo-yo-ma-plays-to-buffalo-herd-on-blackfeet-nation>

